The Weight of Crowds.

The load which is produced by a dense crowd of persons is generally taken at 50 to 100 pounds per square foot and is considered to be the greatest uniformly distributed load for which a floor need be proportioned. That this value may be largely exceeded in an actual crowd was pointed out by Professor W. C. Kermot of the Melbourne university, Australia, in a paper before the Victorian Institute of Engineers. In an actual trial a class of students averaging 133.5 pounds each in weight were crowded in a lobby containing 1,822 square feet, making an average floor load of 134.7 pounds. There was still room to have placed another man which would have brought up the loading to 143.1 pounds per square foot.

Professor Kermot also quoted from Stoney, who placed 58 Irish laborers averaging 158 pounds each in weight in an empty ship deckhouse measuring 57 square feet floor area. This was a load of 147.4 pounds per square foot. In another test, with 73 laborers crowded into a hut 9 feet by 8 feet 8 inches, Stoney produced a load of 143 pounds per square foot and estimated that two or three more men could have been squeezed in. It appears from these experiments that while the figures ordinarily assumed of 50 to 100 pounds are sufficiently correct for spaces on which there is no cause to induce the collection of great crowds, larger figures, say 140 to 150 pounds per square foot, should be used for railway stations and platforms, entrances and exits to places of public assemblies or of office buildings, bridge sidewalks, pavements over vaults and other places where dense crowds are likely to gather.—Engineering News.

THE WILSON BILL.

The bill which passed the house of representatives last Monday was introduced by Wilson of West Virginia, now chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means. The bill repeals the purchasing clause of what is known as the Sherman act unconditionally. If it becomes a law the government will purchase no more bullion and the secretary of the treasury will not be compelled to coin any of the silver bullion heretofore purchased under the Sherman act unless it may be necessary to do so to redeem the outstanding treasury notes issued in payment of such bullion. Except in this case, and as the policy of the treasury department is to redeem the treasury notes with gold, this can scarcely be deemed an exception, there will be no coining of silver dollars on public or private account.

The bill as it passed the house has been referred to the Senate Committee on Finance. It may be consigned to oblivion, or pigeon-holed, as it is termed, by that committee, or it may be reported to the senate. In the latter event several amendments will doubtless be offered and it is likely that some of them will be adopted. Should such prove to be the case the amended bill will be sent to the house and if that body refuses to concur in the Senate amendments a conference committee composed of members of each house will be appointed. Should that committee agree by the members appointed by each house making concessions the report will in all probability be adopted and the bill as changed by the conference committee will pass both houses.

It is possible for the senate to prevent the Wilson bill, even if it is reported from the Committee on Finance, from coming to a vote until the mid-winter fair opens in San Francisco, as there is no limit to debate in that body. It may be discussed for months or laid aside and other matters taken up. If, however, the silver men are not reinforced by the election of senators from Montana, Washington and Wyoming there would not be much gained by delay as sooner or later it would be voted upon and passed if a majority favors it. It is claimed now that with vacancies from the three states named, the gold men have a majority of one in the senate, and if such is the case the only hope of preventing the repeal of the Sherman act is in having the legislatures of those states convened to elect senators.

A STAR ROUTE REMINISCENCE

Ex-Senator Dorsey of Star route notoriety is said to be penniless. A judgment has been obtained against him for $40, a debt incurred by him in purchasing a piano. At the close of the famous Star route trial Dorsey presented his counsel, Colonel Robert G. Ingorsoll with a beautiful log villa in New Mexico and the piano was part of the furniture. Since then the ex-senator and the Colonel have become estranged and never speak as they pass by. The piano was not paid for and Ingorsoll would not settle the bill. Dorsey, who purchased the instrument, was sued for its price with the result stated.

Dorsey was at one time reputed to be a millionaire. He was a leader in politics, prominent in national conventions, and influential with the party in power. Now his riches have taken wings and he is seldom heard of except when sued by those who trusted him in the days of his wealth and power.

WORLD'S FAIR SCANDAL.

A handsome woman who has been engaged as file clerk in the auditing department of the World's Fair has been arrested on a charge of soliciting bribes from exhibitors to secure them awards of honor. She is said to have selected for one of her victims A. Wolfshmidt, a Russian exhibitor who has a large display of whisky in the Agricultural building. She is accused of soliciting $15,000 from Wolfshmidt in consideration of giving him the award of honor for his whisky.

Two commissioners, one from Oklahoma and the other from Wyoming are implicated with the woman, as it is alleged that they vouched for her and told those in charge of the whisky exhibit that she could deliver the award. The directors of the fair, it is said, will make a thorough investigation of the charges and if they are founded on facts prosecute the commissioners and the woman to the full extent of the law.

The Elko Independent gives the vote on the Sherman Silver Purchase act as follows: In the senate yeas 39, nays 26, yeas all Republicans, nays all Democrats. The house voted as follows: Yeas 122, nays 90. Of the yeas 121 were Republicans and one Independent. The nays were unanimously Democratic.

The Denver News says, "The drift of the Republican party is towards free coinage."

Had the News waited until the vote on Bland's amendment had been announced it would have expressed a different opinion.

The government is feeling the hard times. The receipts for customs at New York during the first ten days of this month were $1,800,000 less than for the same period last year.

The expression "goldbug" is an abbreviation of "gold bugbear."

THE AZTEC CALENDAR.

A Woman Discovers a Key to Its Interpretation.

CHICAGO, August 29.—At the anthropological congress at the world's fair today Mrs. Zelia Nuttall read a paper, giving for the first time an interpretation of the ancient Aztec calendar. Scholars declare it the most important discovery of the kind of this century, as it furnishes a key to much of the life and arts at least of six nations of the early inhabitants of Mexico and promises to lead to the translation of the hieroglyphics on the ruins of early Mexico and Central America. The accuracy and perfection of this calendar, which is pronounced far ahead of any system now in use, give evidence of a high civilization and mathematical attainments of the ancient inhabitants of America. It is entirely different from any system known to ancient Europe, Asia or Africa. It is estimated that at least 4,000 years of astronomical observation are necessary to perfect this calendar. It furnishes a key also to the religion, architecture and domestic life of that people.

EXHIBITS COMING.

Interest at the World's Exposition in the Midwinter Fair.

CHICAGO, August 28.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the American Exhibitors' Association, Saturday night, a committee composed of Major J. G. Pangborn, president of the association, Henry J. Truesdale and Justice O. Woods, was appointed to confer with the officers of the California midwinter fair with reference to the transfer of exhibits to the coast.

A meeting of the American exhibitors was held this evening in the California building, at which it was determined that a committee be appointed to at once canvass the different departments of the world's fair and induce exhibitors to go to San Francisco. The committee is composed of C. S. Redfield, leather department; Lieutenant Hasson, electricity; William Frelan, mining, and Edward Scott, manufacturing. The committee will be enlarged to embrace all departments.

An Oronville Family Poisoned. OROVILLE, August 28.—The members of the family of E. Marks, one of the leading merchants of this place, were taken violently ill after drinking coffee at breakfast this morning. Mrs. Marks and four of the children, all grown, have so far recovered as to be able to go around, but the servant girl Mollie Rodgers, is still very ill. It was noticed by the girl when preparing breakfast this morning that the dishes in the kitchen had been tampered with. An overdose of the poison, which made the coffee so bitter that all vomited, is the only thing that saved their lives.

Reduction in Salaries.

OMAHA, August 28.—The expected cut in the salaries of the employees on the Union Pacific is now a reality. The order was made public to-day and takes effect September 1st.

Every officer and employee of the road receiving $60 or more per month is affected. The schedule for reduction is as follows:

Salaries ranging from $60 to $100 inclusive, 10 per cent; over $100 to $200 12½ per cent; over $200 to $500, 15 per cent; over $500 20 per cent.

All are Solvent.

PORTLAND, August 28.—The committee of the chamber of commerce appointed to examine the sureties of the four national banks that closed their doors, reported to-night, agreeing with Bank Examiner Whitman that all are solvent, and recommending leniency on the part of the creditors to the end that all may soon resume business.

The Death List Grows.

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., August 28.—August Jacobson, the sixteenth victim of the Long Island wreck, died to-day. Of the sixteen men injured, five are in a very critical condition, and may die at any hour.

TEACHER AGAIN.

He Replies to Trustee and Ends the Discussion.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—I am unable to understand how that "Trustee" explains his obstruction upon the public or how he expected to serve a useful purpose by venting his spleen upon the Nevada teachers; but he evidently thinks he has been of service to the people as a delineator of public morals. Possibly he wants a pension. Mr. Trustee says his first piece, if read right, would be seen to be in the interest of "our boys."

Perhaps the gentleman's Latin led me to misconstrue his meaning, but I must admit that I read his article as a direct slur on the Nevada boys as teachers.

It may be he was trying to compliment the teachers of this state when he compared them to "turkey buzzards." We are compelled to swallow considerable "rot" from such people as this, but whether they can justly be called "turkey buzzards" is a question.

Without claiming to have so keen a conception of honor or to be of such high principle as this "Trustee," I am, with my little light, able to see that it is wrong and contrary to all law for either party to break a contract; but for him to parade his animosity against all Nevada teachers because two of them exercised a right which most of our boards of trustees claim deserves attention. If the gentleman has never heard of an instance where a school board discharged a teacher in the middle of a term, or where an imported teacher resigned, I can cite him a few. Those "incongruous wanderings about protection, etc.," which Mr.

Trustee refers to in my previous letter were not meant as an answer to his article (it did not require so many words), but that and the reference to the acknowledging of certificates as between us and California were meant to call the attention of higher officials to the injustice done the teacher educated in Nevada.

I agree with this Trustee that I have made a "sorry exhibition of myself." My mistake, though, was not in defending the Nevada boys against his calumny, but in crossing swords with one who is not able to argue a point, but seeks to overcome his adversary by throwing mud.

His infallibility, though apparent to himself, is not to others, so he must not become angered if his wisdom is questioned.

We drop the matter here, having had two innings apiece. A TEACHER.

A Close Call.

Justice Linn received a letter this morning informing him of the close call his son-in-law, Conductor Lathrop, had for his life at Winnemucca last Sunday. It appears that Mr. Lathrop's train was about ready to pull out when he started to cross the track to say good-bye to the babies, and was struck by the engine of a train just pulling into the yard and was hurled several feet to the ground lighting on his head and shoulders. But for the fact that the train was moving slowly he would have surely been killed. As it was he received a severe bruise in the side and on top of the head and a deep gash across the forehead, which took several stitches to close. At the time the letter was written Mr. Lathrop was getting along nicely and the attending physician anticipated no serious trouble from any of the wounds.

Telegraphic Notes.

The People's Home Savings bank of San Francisco, which closed its doors in June, has resumed business.

Governor McGraw of Washington says he will not call an extra session of the legislature unless a majority of the people of the state require him to do so.

Rockaway Beach, the famous Long Island resort, was burned yesterday morning. A fierce gale was blowing at the time, and the flames spread rapidly. The guests had barely time to escape in their night clothes. The damage is heavy.

The New York Press reiterates the assertion that President Cleveland submitted to an operation for the removal of a cancer which required the cutting away of a considerable portion of the upper jawbone. The wound healed easily and naturally.

A cyclone swept through Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas, causing loss of life and great destruction of property. Forty persons were reported killed in Sacramento, and it is thought that over 100 lives were lost altogether. Sullivan Island, near Charleston, was devastated by the tornado.

There was a parade of over two million dollars worth of blooded horses through the world's fair grounds yesterday, including the finest specimens of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France and Germany. The day was cloudy, cold and raw, the first of the kind since last May.

O'Hara Cosgrave, editor of the San Francisco Wave, and Truxton Beale, ex-United States minister to Greece, Serbia and Roumania, who engaged in a street fight, were fined $10 each for disturbing the peace. Cosgrave says that Beale struck him while the spectators were holding Cosgrave's arms.

AT HAND

In a dangerous emergency, AYER'S Cherry Pectoral is prompt to act and sure to cure. A dose taken on the first symptoms of Croup or Bronchitis, checks further progress of these complaints. It softens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membrane, and induces sleep. As a remedy for colds, coughs, loss of voice, in grippa, pneumonia, and even consumption, in its early stages, excels all similar preparations. It is endorsed by leading physicians, is agreeable to the taste, does not interfere with digestion, and needs to be taken usually in small doses. From repeated tests in my own family, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has proved itself a very efficient remedy for colds, coughs, and the various disorders of the throat and lungs.—A. W. ## UNDER THE DOME.

Newlands of Nevada Speaks—The Situation—Unfair Advantages Taken by the National Banks.

[By C. D. Van Duzer.]

How is the situation? Well, by the time this letter is read by my Nevada readers the house will have carried out Cleveland's instructions, by how large a majority it is hard to tell. It is a foregone conclusion, however. The debate waxed warm, and many who are anxious to speak will be denied the opportunity. The house now meets at 10 A. M., adjourns at 5 P. M., takes a recess until 6 P. M., and finally adjourns at midnight. The interest continues unabated.

Yesterday was a gala day in the house. The best speakers are coming on in rapid succession. One hears a good deal of repetition on this question. New and original ideas are welcomed. Take the evening sessions and the floor of the house is practically deserted, but the galleries are crowded to suffocation, and the gentlemen speaking at least have the satisfaction of speaking to a vast audience, not to all the colleagues on the floor. During the day session the best speakers are put forward and the floor is usually crowded with members.

NEVADA IS HEARD FROM.

When Mr. Crisp announced that the gentleman from Nevada had the floor there was the usual buzz of excitement and interest which is always created by the appearance of a new member. The floor was well filled with members from both sides, who gathered around Mr. Newlands as he proceeded with his remarks. Mr. Newlands has no mean reputation as an orator and financier, and what he says is eagerly listened to. He has formerly appeared before committees in congress. He is gifted with a lucid presentation of his ideas. He neither indulges in sarcasm, partisanship, abuse or buncombe, but takes up the question with the confidence of a master, and his exposition of it is made in fine English and is most logical, while his delivery is forcible and eloquent and so pleasing that before he had been speaking fifteen minutes all the members began to come in from the cloak rooms, lobbies and corridors.

He was frequently applauded and at the close warmly congratulated. Even so strong an opponent as the gifted Tracey of New York came up to him and congratulated him and said it grieved him much to know that the time was limited, for, he said, it was one of the clearest presentations he had heard. Boutelle of Maine, who sat near him, said that Mr. Newlands, in his judgment, made the best silver argument yet presented, and Bowers of Vermont said he was almost persuaded to the silver cause. Mr. Newlands' first appearance was highly successful and most gratifying to his friends and ought to be to the state. It placed him among the careful, aggressive and able members of the house. Nothing so contributes to a man's success in congress as to have the respect and good opinion of his colleagues, for when he speaks he is sure of attention and carries conviction to his listeners. So far the three best silver speeches have been by Bland, Bryan and Newlands. I will venture the assertion that no new member is more widely and favorably known than Nevada's congressman and it presages effective service for our state. His appointment on the committee on irrigation and arid lands is one which will be of value to the state and is a recognition of his well known work and interest in that direction.

Mr. Newlands was followed by Bynum of Indiana and Hepburn of Iowa. The latter gentleman made a rousing free coinage speech. He urged the Republicans to stand against repeal. It is a mystery to me how the Republican party can stand up and gracefully assist the Democrats out of their present hole. The Republican party passed the Sherman act and they commended it in their platform of 1888 and for them now to vote for its repeal looks like repudiation and a rare specimen of political inconsistency.

IN THE SENATE.

As I said before history is made rapidly these days. The forces at work are powerful. Within the last few days senators have been falling down. It is predicted and reluctantly acknowledged by silver men that their cause has wonderfully weakened in the senate within the past forty-eight hours. This is how it was brought about: The south has a cotton crop to move. It must be moved immediately. They must have money at once. They have been in the habit of getting it from the New York banks. Here they applied as before in former years and were met with refusal. But, says the New York banks, if your representatives will vote for repeal and thus relieve the situation, we can let you have the money and discount your notes, etc. Immediately the southern senators were flooded with petitions, appeals, threats and urgent demands that they comply with the request. As a result, White and Caffrey of Louisiana, Call and Pascoe of Florida have wilted, and this loses four votes to the silver men. If the Democrats refuse to seat Lee Mandle from Montana and the other governor appointees three more votes are lost and on a close vote repeal will win by about two votes. That is the situation to-day. There is no use of cherishing up a false hope. That the silver question is losing is regretted and acknowledged by all. But it is money, power, undue influence, administration personally accommodation that is doing it. The people must suffer another four years, but the writing on the wall grows plainer each hour and it shines within the congressional chamber. Thwart the will of the people again and another Daniel shall stride into the judgment hall and proclaim the downfall of Belschazzar Cleveland and his gold-worshipping hosts.

The silver men counted on Voorhees. He had proclaimed in silvery tones his allegiance to the white metal, yet, today, with all the eloquence he could command, he spoke for the administration and the great speech of his life advocated repeal. While professing love for silver he covertly strikes the metal a fatal blow. He represents Cleveland, and no sane man after reading that message, can longer believe Cleveland a bimetalist. The administration is holding out a lot of glittering promises. What matters a declaration to us of bimetalism by the Democratic party if they stop short of full execution of that declaration. What relief will it give to the million men waiting and starving and driven to desperation if they fix in the tenets of their party a meaningless declaration for bimetalism. They repeat the only protective law we have for silver. It is the last move of a desperate enemy who promises, deceives, connives and compasses with promises the friends of silver. The passage of a silver bill is a distant dream. That declaration coming from the party in power will not be any more religiously observed than the declaration in the Chicago platform which they have trampled beneath their feet. It is characteristic of the great party of negation; coming into power on promises they never expected to fill. But they are to be hoist by their own petard. Bland and Vest, Bryan, Hatch and hosts of others have said to them: "Thus far and no farther shall thou go in the despoiling and soiling of a sacred Democratic doctrine." They mean it. D. W. Voorhees, senator from Indiana, small calibre politician, a bearer of messages, an administration automaton, has been won by the satisfying of his personal vanity. By being permitted to grovel on his belly before the prophet of prophets, he has thrown to the dogs his principles. He tries in eloquent language to justify his flop by holding for bimetalism in theory while advocating a measure which forever shall render impossible its realization.

This history is made. The statements of the great party in power are making it to-day. The people are waiting their turn. Within four years they will be instrumental in making a chapter which will be read with all the thrilling wonder by our children and their children, that now fills us as we read of the French revolution. You cannot gain-say or deny our history.

Back From the Mountains.

The party which left here two weeks ago on a pleasure and fishing trip in the Sierra Nevada under the care of J. N. Evans has returned. It consisted of sixteen persons, six of whom were ladies. They took a complete camping outfit intent on enjoying life in the mountains. They visited Sierra, Mohawk, Indian, Genesee, American, Clover and Long valleys, camped under the tall pines, fished in the Feather river and its tributaries, feasted on the fat of the land and traveled about 200 miles. Major Domo Evans is proud of his success as guide and fisherman, as no accident occurred to mar the pleasures of the trip and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

A FINANCIAL CATECHISM.

Farmer Gives The Goldbugs Another Roasting.

Question.—What do the goldbugs mean when they say that prices of all commodities are regulated by the "inexorable law of supply and demand?"

Answer.—They mean to hoodwink the producers into believing that the low prices of their products is caused by over-production.

Q.—Do the goldbugs claim that the value of money is also regulated by the "inexorable law of supply and demand?"

A.—No, the goldbug shlylocks know, if that fact became known to the people, that the days of the bondholding aristocracy would be numbered, and money would again be used as a medium of exchange.

Q.—Is not money used principally at the present time as a medium to facilitate the exchange of products?

A.—No, by all odds the principal use that money is put to at the present time, is to buy bonds and pay interest.

Q.—The New York Agriculturalist estimates that the value of the hay, grain and potato crop for the year 1893 in the United States will amount to $2,335,000,000. Won't the farmers have to be paid in money for these crops?

A.—No, Very few farmers ever have the privilege of handling any money; it is generally intercepted by the interest gatherers, before it reaches them.

Q.—Who regulates the supply of money that circulates in Uncle Sam's domain.

A.—The bondholding aristocracy of Europe, who are ably assisted by the goldbugs of our own country.

Q.—Does not the constitution of the United States provide a way for supplying the people with money sufficient to transact their business, independent of the bondholders?

A.—Yes, but the money kings have no respect for the law and ignore all laws except those that fasten their grip on the property of the people. These laws and the ones that bind the government to use all its legal machinery and military power if necessary to enforce collection, are the only laws that the shlylocks have any use for.

Q.—Do the bondholders also control the demand for money?

A.—Yes. They have it in their power to depreciate the property of the debtors to any price they see fit. They can make such an enormous demand for money by demanding payment on a few of their securities that the supply would be wholly inadequate, and the debtors would be completely at their mercy. In this way the independent spirit of our people has been effectively subdued.
